Arthur Charles Erickson

(June 14, 1924 – May 20, 2009)

Material available in the University of Lethbridge Archives
Compiled by Graham Ruttan, Independent Study student, Spring 2011
Completed: June 8, 2011.

Biography

Arthur Erickson was a globally renowned architect. He studied at the University of British Columbia and later at McGill University. He studied architecture in Europe, the Middle East and Japan. Because of reputation, Erickson was selected by the University of Lethbridge's Board of Governors to design the university's campus master plan. He was a Vancouver based architect and co chair of his architectural firm with Geoffrey Massey, Erickson-Massey Architects. Time Magazine called Erickson, "Canada's Master Architect" in an article detailing his career written and published shortly after the completion of University Hall. He received many awards including honorary degrees for his architectural works, among them the 1986 Gold Medal from the American Institute of Architects and an honorary degree from the University of Lethbridge in 1981. Other noteworthy works include The Museum of Anthropology at UBC, the Provincial Law Courts in Downtown Vancouver, the Simon Fraser University campus, the Canadian Chancery in Washington, DC, and the Museum of Glass in Tacoma, Washington. Erickson passed away on May 20, 2009.

Introduction

This finding aid encompasses all the material in the university's archives concerning Arthur Erickson or the two architectural firms he was associated with during his time working with the University of Lethbridge: Erickson/Massey Architects and Arthur Erickson Architects. Erickson's involvement with the university spanned numerous years and multiple projects, chief among them being the selection of the site for the new university and the preparation of a master plan for its development. He later provided designs for landscaping options, four years after the completion of the original projects.

Scope and Contents

The material available in the archives includes maps, blueprints, memos, letters, reports, plans, proposals, 7" audio tapes, reel to reel videos, notices, newspaper articles, editorials, pictures, minutes, schedules, bulletins, newsletters, agreements, contracts, agendas, and summaries.

Location

All materials listed in this finding aid are located in the University of Lethbridge Archives, located in the University of Lethbridge Library (L1172). All items are listed in terms of their physical location within the archives.
